

Vassilis Demetriades

Vassilis Demetriades is retired Professor of Turkish Studies in the Department of History and Archaeology of the University of Crete, where he taught from 1984 to 1998. Since 1987 he has been responsible for the Programme of Turkish Studies at the Institute for Mediterranean Studies, where he now holds the title of Honorary Fellow. He is the author of the following books:

- (ed., together with D. Daskalou) Book of Sacrifices. Names and Confiscated Properties of Christian Fighters of Eastern Crete During the Revolution of 1821 (in Greek), Herakleio, 2003.
- Thessaloniki in Decline (in Greek), Herakleio, 2000
- Topography of Thessaloniki During the Period of Turkish Rule (1430-1912) (in Greek), Thessaloniki, 1983
- Central and Western Macedonia According to the Evliya Celebi (Introduction-Translation-Commentary) (in Greek), Thessaloniki, 1973

He is the author of about 30 papers in Greek and international journals.